

Equity in EI ECHO

Reflect, Practice, Change

An ECHO® provides participants the opportunity to engage in a collaborative community and discuss informational case presentations. This ECHO also included an additional Community of Learning component to provide additional time for reflection, engagement, and practice.

There were 5 sessions this year:

Implicit Bias, Self-Awareness, and the Connection (15 Completed Survey)

Systemic Racism and Social Determinants of Health (14 Completed Survey)

Cultural Wealth and Intersectionality (8 Completed Survey)

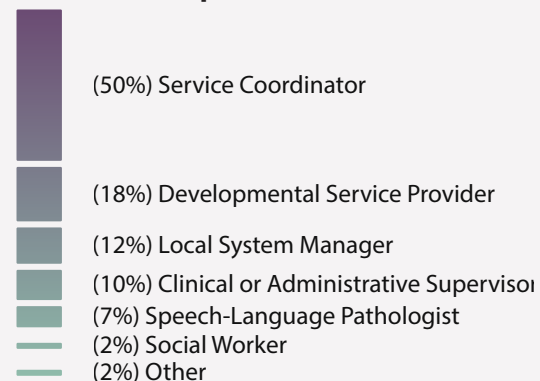

Historic Trauma (14 Completed Survey)

Repairing Harm (10 Completed Survey)

2023 Report

97% Highly Satisfied or Satisfied with the ECHO training overall.

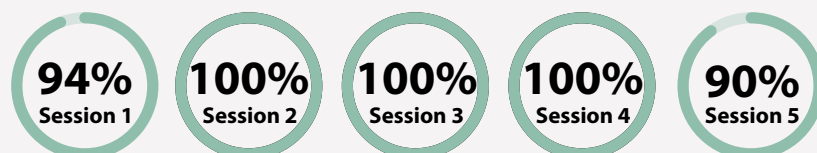

Roles of Participants in the ECHO®

* Percentages rounded to nearest whole number

Overall Satisfaction for Each Session

● Highly Satisfied or Satisfied

What is one idea the hub team shared that you found especially helpful?

"Awareness of our implicit bias, the impact it has, and talking openly about this impact."

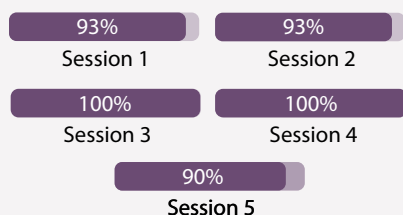

I continue to appreciate the conversation about cultural humility."

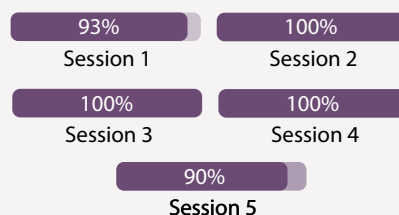

Quality of ECHO

● Strongly Agree or Agree

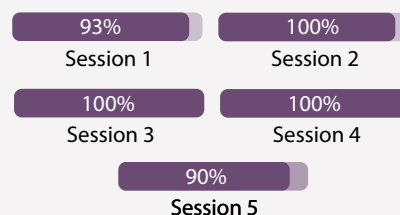

Participation in this ECHO helped me to reflect on my personal equity journey as an early interventionist.

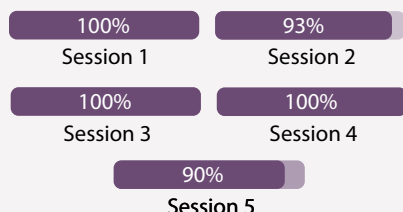

Participation in this ECHO helped me practice equity in early intervention service implementation.

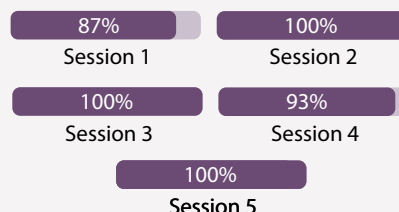

The didactic content presentation enhanced my knowledge about equity in early intervention.

The ECHO Hub Team shared expertise and provided guidance and/or shared resources related to equity in early intervention.

During the case presentations, I gained new ideas and strategies from my peers and colleagues.

The suggestions/recommendations received were realistic and at least one can be implemented in my interactions with families.

